AVIATION HISTORY – AND MORE

Millville, NJ has a long, diverse history, including agriculture, manufacturing (glass-making being a specialty), and aviation. The municipal airport became the nucleus of an important training base for P-47 Thunderbolt pilots in World War II. Many of the original buildings survive, and the large, concrete runways are clearly more than would you would expect for a rural airport. There is also a museum that highlights the military history of the airport.

On Sunday, November 20 we'll journey to Millville for brunch at the Flight Line Restaurant. Located in a building that was the original Provost Marshal's office, this cozy spot has been a favorite of hungry aviators and their guests for many years. This quick, 50 nm flight can provide a stunning view of downtown Philadelphia and the airport. More likely, ATC will detour us around the Class B airspace toward a river crossing below Chester. It's a nice flight whichever way we go.

We'll gather at Penn Airways at 0930 for 1000 takeoff. Take a non-pilot or a student along, for an introduction to the world of general aviation—the fun and camaraderie. Contact Gene Poppel (610-647-1332 or genepoppel@comcast.net) and let him know if you'll need a ride or have a seat available in your plane.

This month's trip was originally scheduled for Orange County, NY, but the restaurant closed at the end of October. It's too bad, because it was a nice spot and an interesting flight.

- SECOND TRY FOR CHERRY RIDGE—A SUCCESS

The remains of an early season snowstorm inhibited our planned flight to Cherry Ridge. However, we tried again on Sunday, November 6. This time we made it. Thirteen folks in seven planes journeyed through a crystal clear day for a hearty brunch. Better late than never.
